ALBERTA POOL ELEVATORS RECORD PROGRESS

The operations of Alberta Pool Elevators for the business year ending July 15, 1934, showed a net earning of $78,029.64 on the handling of 27,090,444 bushels of grain, according to reports submitted to the Annual Convention of Pool delegates which met in Calgary on Tuesday, 27th November. The net operating earnings of the elevator system totalled $87,517.17. From this sum was deducted full depreciation on all elevator properties totalling $254,406.90 and also the sum of $274,990.63 paid to the Province of Alberta, being one year's interest on the 1929 Pool overpayment. This left the net earnings as mentioned above which amount has been placed in reserve.

The year's operations were considered satisfactory in view of the much smaller crop in 1933 as compared with 1932 and the competitive conditions in the grain handling business throughout the province. In 1932 Alberta's wheat crop totalled 164 million bushels and in 1933 the crop was approximately 95 million. This reduction was reflected in the Pool handling which was less in 1933-34 by 21 million bushels than the handling for the 1932 crop.

Handling consisted of 25,863,209 bushels through the elevators and 1,227,235 bushels were shipped to Pool terminals over loading platforms. This gives a total handling of 27,090,444 bush. The average handling per country house operated was 58,915 bushels.

The Pool elevator system includes 438 country houses. During the past summer elevators were built at Breton, Headley, Conrad and Fort Kent, and elevators dismantled at Griesbach, Langley, Bowell and Thierlin.

Government Terminal No. 2 at Vancouver was not leased during the year 1933-34 but owing to a different set of conditions during the present year, notably stocks of grain in store and a somewhat better crop, this terminal was leased at a reduced rental for a period of one year.

Careful attention was given by the management in restricting controllable expenditures insofar as practicable and consistent with the necessity of extending reasonable services and accommodation to members and patrons in the marketing of their grain. At a number of points in the southern parts of the province where light crops were harvested in 1933 elevator service was maintained over the season for the purpose of assisting in the distribution of relief. Approximately 1500 tons of various relief commodities were handled. Most of these cases consisted of commodities in which the Pool had no direct interest. The services of Pool agents and Pool facilities were extended without remuneration.

A slight reduction in the percentage of handlings by Pool elevators occurred in the 1933-34 season as compared with the previous year. This was fully accounted for in the belief of the management by the extension of credit by competitors. In the Pool elevators being able to maintain this percentage of handling quite close to that of the previous season in the face of considerable of this type of competition confirms the opinion as to the continued confidence on the part of the farmers of Alberta in the operation of Alberta Pool Elevator system.

For the first 45 weeks of 1934, ended November 8, shipments of live stock from Western to Eastern Canada, compared with 1933 (figures within brackets), included 102,018 (76,702) cattle; 6,754 (3,519) calves; 65,831 (48,831) sheep; and 166,574 (249,601) hogs.

STEADY PROGRESS

During the last year or more no publication has shown more remarkable strides in the matter of increased circulation than has the Family Herald and Weekly Star. This is not strange for it is evident that in times of stress people are prone to cut down on the number and variety of magazines and Papers coming into their home and they find in the Family Herald and weekly Star a paper which, at $1.00 per year, gives them every variety of reading, for old and young, all combined in this one publication. Every issue overflows with practical farming ideas, up to the minute articles, short stories together with a weekly newspaper section which rounds out a feast of reading without compare. Truly it has been well said that the Family Herald and weekly Star is the best for the least.

FARMERS' MARKETING ASSOC'N

Available records indicate that the most important early activity of farmers in the field of co-operation was directed towards the marketing of farm products, and today marketing associations, both in terms of places of business and total membership, outnumber farmers' purchasing associations by ten to one. In the matter of volume of business, marketing associations transact twenty times the business handled by purchasing agencies. Membership in the co-operative marketing associations which reported to the Dominion Economics branch numbered 316,597 persons, as compared with 30,516 members in purchasing organizations. The total annual business amounted to $7,276,950 for the purchasing group.

Interest in the co-operative purchasing of feedstuffs, equipment and supplies for the farm, however, dates far back to the early years of co-operative development in Canada.

PRESS FOR NATIONAL

WHEAT MARKETING BOARD
Renewed decision to press for a national grain marketing board with adequate grower representation was taken by Saskatchewan Wheat Pool delegates at their tenth annual meeting recently. They felt that such a board "would provide the best solution of our present marketing difficulties." At the same time the delegates went on record unanimously as "endorsing the principles of the National Product Marketing Act as a medium through which the producers of agricultural commodities may organize the market."

Nearly 3 tons of dressed poultry were bought by the Hanna Creamery, here Tuesday. Everyone was pleased with the grading and prices. The most of the turkeys being A's bringing .11c. The chickens bringing as high as .13 1/2c.

THE ADVANCE WEATHER BULLETIN

Thursday, Dec. 13—Weather generally milder and clearer, though about central provinces a few snow flurries, but precipitation in most sections very light.

Friday, Dec. 14—Considerably higher temperatures in nearly all the country, though in northwest probably snow flurries and strong winds.

Saturday, Dec. 15—Weather begins to turn cold, about the west and some snow flurries in central provinces, extending to Great Lakes regions.

Week of Dec. 16 to 18, 1934, in central provinces begins with rather cold weather for the season but soon moderates and temperatures continue to rise most of week, until last day, when a cold spell drifts in from the west.

At first some disturbance above the west and some snow flurries probably drift through, but in general very little precipitation is expected except on the Pacific slope, and southwest parts of the central provinces. Just as week ends some light snows in central sections and in west beginning of a slow moving cold wave.

In central Canada around this time of the year there are normally only very light snows. These come on mostly in the form of light flurries, that is, due to the passage of a center of low pressure there are scattering snows, usually to the north and west of the low. This week two such disturbances are expected to cross the country, raising the temperatures and creating light clouds carrying some precipitation as they pass, then changing to a cold wave from the northwest. The month's forecast chart indicates peak of the mild temperatures at around the 15th in the west or 16th in regions in east of central provinces.

The Heart Of Man

The season is at hand when once again the age-old song recorded in Holy Writ "Peace on earth, goodwill toward men" will be sung by millions of voices and the sentiment expressed in the words will be made the theme of countless sermons, addresses, and written articles—of which this is one. And the question will be asked by a perplexed people, asked in their bewilderment and sorrow, why is it that after the passage of nearly 2,000 years, instead of peace on earth and goodwill among and toward men, the world is filled with rumors of and preparation for war, and suspicions and hatreds are rife among people everywhere?

In seeking an answer to this question innumerable replies and reasons will be given. Many will lay the chief responsibility upon politicians; others will blame the inhumanity and selfishness of the makers of armaments; a goodly number will declare it is the existing economic system that is the root of the trouble; in a word, the tendency will be to place the blame for the years of the past, to asportion the blame to others and to institutions of our own making, but never to accept any share of it as our own responsibility. Yet, in the final analysis, the responsibility lies at our own door and rests with us as individuals.

A nation is but an organization of individuals, and the national viewpoint is but the aggregate of the viewpoint of the people who constitute the nation; the national spirit is the spirit of the people themselves. Politicians do what the people want them to do, and statesmen are forced to act, frequently against their own better judgment, because their people insist upon certain action and will accept and support nothing else.

Nations-to-day remain in a warlike mood because the individuals who constitute the nations are themselves lacking in goodwill to the one toward the other, and lacking goodwill—which is the only source of peace—there can be no peace.

Individuals clamor for security in their homes and occupations; nations as organizations of individuals demand security; but there can be no security either for the nation or the individual unless there be peace at home and abroad. Nevertheless, as individuals, in our own local communities, and in our relationships to each other, mankind is unmindful of these great truths, and to a great extent maintains attitudes of suspicion and hostility instead of seeking for understanding and goodwill.

The world, and each and every community throughout the world, counts its men and women who, in the current language of the day, are chisellers, seeking to better themselves at the expense of others, trying to pull others down in order that they may rise, desirous of taking that which others have in order that they may possess it. Many creditors are harsh, unsympathetic and unyielding in their attitude towards debtors in great difficulty through no fault of their own and insist on their pound of flesh even though it means the ruin and destruction of the debtor; on the other hand, many debtors dishonestly seek to take full advantage of a difficult situation to cheat and defraud those whom they had asked to assist them in the past and who did assist them. And demagogues, both of the Right and the Left, of both high and low degree, take full advantage of each difficulty to fan the flames of discord and arouse and intensify feelings of enmity and prevent reasonable co-operation and the development of goodwill leading to peace and mutually beneficial compromise agreements.

The result is that all parties are invoking the power of the law to enforce their demands, and they may possess it. Many creditors are harsh, unsympathetic and unyielding in their attitude towards debtors in great difficulty through no fault of their own and insist on their pound of flesh even though it means the ruin and destruction of the debtor; on the other hand, many debtors dishonestly seek to take full advantage of a difficult situation to cheat and defraud those whom they had asked to assist them in the past and who did assist them. And demagogues, both of the Right and the Left, of both high and low degree, take full advantage of each difficulty to fan the flames of discord and arouse and intensify feelings of enmity and prevent reasonable co-operation and the development of goodwill leading to peace and mutually beneficial compromise agreements.

The answer to the question propounded above is that the heart of man is wrong. Mankind has not yet risen high enough, nor educated itself to the point where peace on earth and goodwill among men is really and truly desired. Mankind still prefers to live and rule by force. Once man as an individual changes his viewpoint he will find politicians both ready and anxious to accept and act upon the armament makers will find themselves without an occupation; freed of all the restrictions and obstructions imposed by individual and corporation selfishness and the evils of narrow nationalism, the economic system will operate successfully.

The bringing of peace on earth and goodwill toward men is not a matter of law; it cannot be brought about by force; it must come, because it is the only way it can come, through change in the hearts of men. It will be a slow growth, a development to which every true lover of peace and every believer in the power of goodwill is called upon to lend his or her example and influence. Railing at others will achieve little; peace must be lived and goodwill practised.

Gasoline From Lignite

University Of Minnesota Scientists Are Carrying On Experiments

Two University of Minnesota scientists, successful already in developing cellulose, a principal ingredient of rayon, from the aspen tree, speculated on the possibility of making gasoline from lignite.

The two, Professor Lloyd H. Ryerson and Ralph E. Brewer, hunted new materials and new uses for old ones with the co-operation of the Northwest Research foundation, were heartened by the success of German scientists in making gasoline from brown coal. Lignite, they pointed out, is similar in composition to Germany's brown coal.

Success of experiments in making gasoline from lignite would create an outlet for vast deposits of the low grade coal which underlies prairies of North and South Dakota and eastern Montana. Geologists have estimated their total at 1,000,000,000,000 tons.

New Kind Of Concrete

Discovered When Workman Fried Meal On Waste Slate

A workman in a slate quarry in North Wales found himself without a frying pan when he wanted to cook his ham-and-egg dinner.

So he used a piece of waste slate instead. Then he left it on the fire and forgot about it.

As a result, a new kind of economical lightweight concrete has been discovered.

The piece of slate expanded in the heat. When it is broken up it can be used with cement to make a light form of concrete, such as is used in partitions and house walls.

"Its moisture expansion is much lower than that of the usual materials," an official of the department of building research said.

"It is easily nailed, and is an excellent key for plaster work."

Seeking Mystery Tribe

British Couple Start On Romantic Quest In India

A British couple, Mr. and Mrs. D. L. R. Lorimer, have arrived at Balit, the capital of Hunza, in Northern India, on one of the most romantic quests in the world. They hope, in the course of a year's stop in the district to solve the mystery of the Burushaki language, which is spoken by a mysterious race believed to be descended from Alexander the Great. The Burushaki, who number about 20,000, are a clan of apparently Persian or Afghan origin. They live on both sides of the Hunza River, which divides the State of Hunza from that of Nagar, in a region of wild and almost inaccessible mountains. For generations they were the terror of the trading caravans between Chinese Turkestan and Kashmir.

Her Lucky Day

A very recent bride who was china-bunting in one of the big stores the other day was puzzled to find that one of the finest of all the sets in the place had been marked down to half its original selling price, and when she inquired why, the salesgirl told her it was because the ware came from Germany, and the store was closing out all German goods. At this, the bride, who is more than a little sympathetic with the boycott, looked over the set pretty carefully, and then ordered it sent to her apartment. Every piece was stamped "Bohemia."—The New Yorker.

YOUR HANDWRITING
REVEALS YOUR CHARACTERBy LAWRENCE HIBBERT
(Grapho-Analyst)
(All Rights Reserved)

(Editor's Note: This series of articles is attracting wide interest, and many readers have written to the author, asking for a personal analysis of their own writing. The author again invites readers to consult him, and you will find details of his offer in the following article.)

Miss S. writes: "I am 18 years of age, and in love with a man of 30. My parents do not like me having anything to do with him, and yet he is so nice, and you will find details of his offer in the following article.)

I believe you would be doing a very unwise thing if you marry him, Miss S. His writing tells me that he is very set in his ways, is used to having his own way, and dominates others. And he is selfish to the core.

You, on the other hand, have a variable nature. Sometimes, you are easy-going, and at other times you are apt to be impulsive. There is a good deal of indecision in your nature. You find it difficult to make up your mind definitely on any point. You are young and some of your best years lie ahead of you. Do not take a hasty, false step at this stage of your life.

On general principles, I am opposed to a young girl of your age marrying a man so much older, and I have known many cases where such marriages have gone on the rocks. Of course, there are cases where happiness prevails, but they are rare.

The odds are against happiness in marriages between April and September, to write figuratively. A man of 30 is, more or less, mature in his views and outlook, and a girl of 18 is, in most cases at least, on the threshold of life. And imagine, when you are but 30, your husband would be over 50.

"School-teacher," writes: I am discontented with the life of a country school-teacher. I get terribly out of patience with it, and dread the thought of continuing the work year after year. I have a proposal of marriage from a young farmer. He is not very well off, and life with him would be something of a struggle. I like him quite a bit, and am wondering if marriage to him would not present an outlet for my restless nature. Should I accept his proposal?

I sympathize with your position, Miss School-teacher, and an afraid you may only be jumping from the frying pan into the fire. You are of a restless nature, ever on the move, and your husband is very irksome to you.

You do not say that you love your young farmer friend. If you did, I might be tempted to say "go ahead"—for he has a likeable sort of nature, and is sincere and anxious to make a success of his work.

But it would not be fair to him to marry him at present, feeling the way you do. Strive for some outside interest, or if you have none, develop your talent for the drama. Join the local amateur theatrical club, or if that is none in your town, organize one, and I think you will find in that work an outlet for your talent and also zest for variety.

You may find in the course of time that you love your friend enough to make a success of his work, and then you could marry him, and, at the same time, develop your outside interests to provide that change and variety that your nature demands.

Your handwriting tells the true story of your character, without frills. And you can find out what your friends are really like—whether they are sincere or deceitful, honest or unreliable. Send specimens of the writing you wish to be analysed—as long as possible, please—and enclose 50c for each specimen. Send your 3c stamped addressed envelope, to: Lawrence Hibbert, care of Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 176 McDermott Ave., Winnipeg, Man. Letters will be answered as quickly as possible, but please allow at least two weeks for your reply. All letters are confidential.

Gift From Canadian Greeks

Buffalo Of Manitoba Bronze Sent To Royal Couple

A life-like buffalo, of Manitoba bronze, mounted on a base of Manitoba marble, was sent to London, the wedding gift of Greek residents of Manitoba to Princess Marina and Prince George.

The buffalo and base is about two feet long and two feet in height. A Greek design encircles the base, on which is mounted the Manitoba coat of arms.

The gift plaque is inscribed "To Princess Marina and Prince George from the Hellenes of Manitoba, Canada."

At October 31, 1934, forty-three per cent. of the land in Canada intended for the 1935 crop was estimated to have been ploughed, as compared with forty-one per cent. in 1933.

Fewer, Less Severe Colds
With Colds-Control PlanNew Aid in Preventing Colds
Makes Possible Better Control of Colds in the Home

CLINICS PROVE PLAN

Mothers can now help their families to greater freedom from colds—fewer colds, shorter colds, milder colds—thanks to the development of the new Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds. The Plan has been clinically tested by physicians—and its effectiveness is being proved daily in thousands of homes.

The Plan, perfected by the makers of Vicks VapoRub, is introduced along with the new aid in preventing colds, Vicks Va-tro-nol (for nose and throat). This new Vicks preparation is the ideal companion to VapoRub, the modern method of treating colds. Briefly, the Plan is this:

To Help Prevent Colds

Watch yourself and children after exposure to any condition that you know is apt to be followed by a cold, such as:

Contact with others having fresh colds—colds, stuffy ill-ventilated rooms, public places—sudden changes in temperature—excesses in living, such as over-eating, smoking or drinking, which reduce the body's resistance. Then—at the slightest irritation of the nasal passages, where most colds start—use Vicks Va-tro-nol at once. Just a few drops up each nostril. Repeat every hour or so if needed. Va-tro-nol stimulates the functions provided by Nature, in the nose, to prevent colds—and to throw off colds in their early stages. Used in time, Va-tro-nol helps to avoid many colds entirely.

To Help Shorten a Cold

If a cold has developed, massage the throat and chest with Vicks VapoRub. It attacks the cold direct—two ways at once—by stimulation and inhalation. Through the skin, it acts like a poultice or plaster. At the same time, its medicated vapors, released by body heat, are breathed in direct to inflamed air-passages.

During the day—any time, any place—use Vicks Va-tro-nol every few hours as needed to clear clogged nasal passages. This gives you full 24-hour treatment, and without the risks of constant internal dosing, which so often unsettles digestion—especially of children.

Trial Offer Guarantee

Your druggist is offering Vicks Va-tro-nol and Vicks VapoRub on the following trial guarantee: Use as directed in Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds (details in each Vicks package). Unless you are delighted with results, your druggist is authorized to refund your money.

Pease passed through Montreal two months ago with a dog and 30 tons of equipment bound for the arctic wastes and a search for documents dealing with Franklin's northern saga he thought he might discover.

Cash For Beet Growers

Harvest This Year Totals Close To Million Dollars

Another quarter of a million dollars in cheques has been received by beet growers of Southern Alberta.

The new payment will make a total of $610,000 paid out on the initial base rate of $5 per ton, with a final payment to be made at the completion of the delivery season.

With a record crop of 170,040 tons, the beet growers will receive close to $1,000,000 for their harvest this year.

Strait Does Not Exist

Admiral Byrd Says Land All Way To South Pole

A newly discovered section of land in Antarctica has been claimed for the United States by Rear-Admiral Richard E. Byrd.

A huge stretch of ice-covered Antarctic wastes, which previously had been considered to be over water, was said by Byrd to be land. He made this announcement in a radio message to President Roosevelt following a flight east into Marie Byrd Land.

He brought back with him conclusive evidence that Marie Byrd Land was an unbroken line from the Antarctic coast to the South Pole and that a trans-Arctic strait does not exist. Byrd declared it is all land "overwhelmed by ice to be sure, but land, anyway."

It isn't necessary to put up with cooking odors all through the house when you bake or boil fish. Wrap the fish in Canapar Cookery Parchment. Not only will the odors stay in—but the fish will come out delicious, with its full natural flavour retained.

Instead of allowing much of the goodness and flavor of vegetables to escape in steam, cook them in Canapar. With Canapar you can cook several vegetables in a single pot. ## The ENERGY VALUE of Cod Liver Oil PLUS SPEEDY ASSIMILATION

With emulsified oils digestion begins at once in the stomach. Ordinary oils must first combine with the pancreatic juices—to form an emulsion—before they can be assimilated.

Scott's Emulsion is more quickly and easily assimilated than plain Cod Liver Oil because it is already emulsified. Scott's Emulsion is rich in body building hypophosphates of lime and soda—PLUS values you get in Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil.

THE TENDERFOOT

By
GEORGE B. ROONEY
Author of "The Coronado Trail,"
"The Canyon Trail," Etc.

SYNOPSIS

"You've fallen here to a half-acre in plenty of trouble," the lawyer told Gerald Keene. "The Broken Spur has been systematically looting the ranch, and did Joe Carr, your partner, is drinking himself into ruin."

But Keene decided to go see what was happening for himself—not as Gerald Keene, half owner of the Hour-Glass Ranch, but as Duro Stone, tenderfoot in a Montgomery Ward wilderness outfit.

Dad Kane, desert rat and luckless prospector till now is returning to tell Dusty and Spike Goddard, owners of the Broken Spur ranch, who had grubstaked him, of his discovery of a rich gold mine, and shows samples of the ore. He sees Broken Spur men rustling Hour-glass cattle and protests against it.

Spike Goddard and Sam Dustin, fearing the old prospector may tell others the things he has seen as to the branding of Carr's cattle, plot to get him to show them the location of the mine and then kill him.

Gerald Keene, dressed in ridiculous cowboy costume, arrived at the Hour-Glass ranch and is hired as a cowboy by Joe Carr. The impersonation of a tenderfoot is successful, and he is accepted as such by the other occupants of the house.

Proof of Dustin's cattle stealing activities was accidentally discovered by Stone, who accompanied by Edith Carr was riding fence a long way from the Hour-glass ranch house.

Dustin unexpectedly comes along and seeing them alone and talks to Edith. He mentions the Soda Springs dispute could be settled by marrying him, and Edith refuses his proposal with remarks that make Dustin furious. He insults Stone, who promptly throws him into a pool of water.

(Now Go On With The Story)

"If he learned that from a catalogue then 'n a Greaser," he muttered and he laid in wait for Stone when supper was done.

"What's the game?" he asked curiously. There was a grin, too, that kept the words from stinging.

Now Red Thom had almost been born in a saddle. He had punched cattle from El Gran Chaco to the Barron Ground and he was not to be put off.

"I seen you fall," he said grimly. "A green man can't fall like that. It takes practice. A new man falls stiff. You relaxed every muscle and that's why you didn't break every bone in your body. Come clean, son. I'll not give you away less'n I have to. Where're you from?"

That is a dangerous question to ask at times but Stone did not resent it.

"I got to spread my own rope my own way," he said, and the homely idiom made Red Thom open his eyes. "You don't mind a man attending to his own business, do you?"

"Ehah, I reckon not. But you see a few of us have spent a long time here on the Hour-glass. You claim to be a new man. All right. Let it go at that. Get me . . . ?"

a bequest like the Hour-glass as it stands to-day would sure chuck for a china egg. . . . Wait a bit! Let's work this out by simple Rule of Three. If old man Carr had ample cattle and didn't sell 'em or trade 'em, and if they didn't lay down and die on him, then it's a moral certainty that somebody else either has got or is gettin' 'em. . . . He remembered that cow down by Soda Springs.

"Looks funny Edith didn't tell her father about that cow. Old Carr must be scared of Dustin at the Broken Spur. That looks bad. Well! If I'm goin' to sit in the same I've got to draw cards. And I've got to sit in the game for my own sake. . . . Even to himself he did not yet admit that Edith was a governing cause in the game. "It looks to me like somebody's got to call this man Dustin an' see what he holds."

He swung out of saddle and let his reins trail. The horse, on his honor by those trailing reins, pawed once or twice at an ant hill and stood with drooping head while Stone settled himself for a study of the valley.

Miles away he could see the line of trees to the east that marked the land where the Hour-glass men were working in a vain hope to find enough cattle to be worth while. Soda Springs was the hub of the wheel of life on the Hour-glass and Soda Springs was in debate.

"Dustin can't be runnin' the cattle off till he changes the brands," he muttered. "He must be doin' it in force. . . . Kiepin a regular gang out in the hills workin' stages on the job. Changin' brands as fast as cows can find. God, but I'd like to see that. . . . I just naturally got to. . . . Dustin ain't shippin' into Mexico and then drivin' back. It'd cost him too much to square the inspectors at the border. He may be shippin' small bunches into California or just drivin' out of the County, venturin' the brands and takin' a chance on sellin' the best way he can. It's a clutch, though, he must be doin' a department store trade."

He felt into deep thought.

"Why? Why would a man do this? Not for more money. There wasn't enough money in a few cattle to make a man risk years in jail. If Dustin was in it . . . and Stone knew he was . . . then he had some other motive. Edith? There was the answer, and Stone felt such a surge of wrath sweep over him at the thought that he felt not all over. He suddenly visioned Edith, red-lipped, red-headed, gray-eyed, and he knew that any man would take a chance for her. But . . . how could any chance overpower that hatred that he had read in her eyes for Dustin? In these days men could not compromise women to marry them. . . . Hold on! . . . Joe Carr was old. He was more or less inept, the result of age and drink, and his daughter loved him dearly. Could this be a scheme on the part of Dustin to win by craft what he could never get otherwise?"

"I believe I've struck it," he shook himself into life. His big horse, pawing at the ant hill, whinnied as a dozen biting ants ran up his leg and bit like fire. Then he raised his great head. Stone's eyes followed the horse's gestures and suddenly stood like a man petrified!

Far below him, six hundred yards away among the brush, he saw a half-grown calf dodging among the mesquite clumps and behind him rode, with yells and shouting, two men on horses that had been hard-riden.

"By God! That's pretty bare-faced. They're so sure all the Hour-glass men are on the east side of the range that they aren't even stickin' to the high brush. Anybody in sight could see 'em. What's that? I must be gettin' blind."

A thin column of white smoke coiled up into the air from behind a distant ridge. Suddenly an edging of black smoke showed along the white column.

"Greasedwood fire. . . . That's to give quick heat to the Irons. God, but they're careless! Is that a wagon too I see? . . . Can't be. . . ."

But it was! A dirty, ill-fitted canvas paulin atop of small wagon that lurched across the divide. A negro, perched in front, drove it slowly down into the flat and squatted by the team.

"Huh! Leaves his fires burnin' behind him and follows his men where they go. Just pickin' up cows wherever they find 'em. Looks to me like a pretty widespread scheme. All based on the fact that the Hour-glass hasn't got enough men to watch its own ranges. That's bad. But that's worse! Changin' brands on Hour-glass calves on Hour-glass land. . . ."

250 LB. MAN LOSES 20 LBS.

And Looks 10 Years Younger

"About three months ago," writes a correspondent, "I weighed 250 lbs. I started taking Kruschen Salts, and I lost 20 lbs. in a little over two months. I am feeling better than I have in years. My friends tell me I look ten years younger, and my step has an elasticity which is amazing. I shall boost Kruschen Salts wherever I go."

Kruschen contains just the six salts, blended in just the right proportion, that are essential to keep you in continual good health. Kruschen Salts keeps the system free from encumbering waste matter. Unless this wastage is expelled regularly, it will give rise to rheumatism and other body poisons. And Nature is liable to take the defensive measure of storing this poison-breeding material out of the way in the form of fatty tissue.

WALLS

Some walls are built without a stone or any iron or wood.

Yet stronger they than barriers Which through long years have stood.

A single word can make a wall, A look for fear or hate Can raise a stubborn barricade Where hope must hesitate.

Grim walls of rock can be torn down, Laid stone by stone aside To leave the view unmarred once more,

Horizons blue and wide. But, ah, beware of walls which rise, Intangible, unseen. . . . Ask though doors had not been!

Experiments Being Made In England With New Gadget

A clock that talks! Not the cuckoo variety, but a clock which will "apeak" the time.

This promises to be the latest time-piece in the office. The British post office research station are experimenting with an apparatus which will put "pip" into clocks.

By dialing a special number the office clock will "apeak" the time.

Then will follow "pips" at 10 seconds' intervals, except at 50 seconds past each minute, when there will be the announcement, for example, "On the third 'pip' it will be exactly 7:40."

The last of three high-pitched signals will indicate then the exact minute.

Business Is Profitable

Drugs And Jewels Smuggled Into England By Air

Smuggling of drugs, Paris fashions and jewels into Britain by air has grown to an astonishing scale.

British tariffs on silk, expensive dresses, jewelry and drugs make this illicit traffic a highly profitable business.

Thousands of pounds of these articles can be loaded on a single plane.

The traffic in drugs, already difficult to detect, is known to be growing at an even greater rate.

Opium, cocaine, heroin and other narcotics are being peddled in the West End and other cities in quantities far in excess of those shown by the import certificates.

An official at Croydon aerodrome expressed the opinion that this smuggling must be carried out on a very large scale if it is made to pay. "Most of the large aerodromes are too well watched to make the risk worth while," he said.

This forced the smuggler to choose some isolated spot off the usual air routes.

"Only the cleverest organization and the close co-operation of paid accomplices with high-powered cars could make such a task practicable."

May Test Mail Rocket

German Engineer Receives Permission From French Air Ministry

The French Air Ministry has authorized Gerhard Zucker, German engineer, to test a device for shooting mail by rocket across the English Channel. A mailbag is to be attached to the rocket, containing 12,000 letters. It will be shot from Dover over the Channel to Calais, on the French coast, twenty-five miles distant. The rocket contains an explosive liquid ignited electrically. After a fixed number of minutes a parachute opens, allowing the mailbag to float to earth.

PACIFIC COAST DON'T LIKE LOW EASTERN RATE

The British Columbia Pacific coast cities have been protesting vehemently against what they consider the menace of the very low rail freight rates from the Georgian Bay ports to Halifax and St. John. It was charged that the five-cent rate put into effect in the East threatened the life of Vancouver and other B.C. cities as grain ports. The contention of Canadian railways was that the low rate had to be put into effect to meet the competition of United States' railway lines. British Columbia replies that the freight rate on grain to Vancouver should be put an equivalent amount since the British Columbia ports are New York for the export of Canadian grain as are Canadian Atlantic ports.

CHRISTMAS IS COMING

"Christmas is coming," the children cry. Counting the weeks that are hurrying by.

The realization of it gives Dad a chill and Mother the heart failure. The trouble is, goodwill has so expanded that there is no "peace." We long to give generously; but we cannot make a depression purse cover a prosopity Christmas list. Yet "Christmas is coming"—what to do; what to do?

The wise thing to do is to face it philosophically. What does Christmas signify? It is a spiritual holiday—a rejoicing in the birth of Christ, of Christianity. The more we put our souls, rather than our purses, into it, the sweeter and richer will be the "merry" occasion.

This being thus, let us again scan our Christmas list—and there should be a definite list. If we did not last year cut off from it dear relatives and beloved friends to whom we yearn to give gifts but cannot afford to do it, let us courageously cut them off the list now. If we can give at all, let us remember these: the children, the aged, the ill, the lonely, the needy.

Let us give appropriately—something which will carry joy and comfort to the recipient. Such gifts are not usually expensive: a doll, a pair of slates, gay house slippers, a glass of jelly, a bushel of potatoes. Thoughtfully selected Christmas presents, with bright wrappings and big love, really scatter Christmas cheer. This bids fair to be an old fashioned Christmas, when we draw on our ingenuity and our scrap bags, as our great grandmothers did.

YOUR SPEECH

Of course you can make a speech—If you have something to say. I get it across you do not need lessons in argumentation but simply to say it. Speak loud enough so that those in the back of the room can hear. Think of the message you want to drive home and forget gestures. They will come naturally, if you are in earnest. If gestures do not come natural to you, omit them. Be yourself.

One of the first essentials is to dress becomingly, but inconspicuously. You do not want the audience to pay attention to your collar or your hat rather than to your theme.

Arrange the points of your speech most convincingly. Study thoroughly what you will say. Have the subject matter well in hand. A good plan is first to write out fully what you wish to say, then boil it down and boil it down and boil it down. Be concise, but clear and logical. Leave something to the intelligence and imagination of your audience.

Don't waste time by apologies or introduction. Say what you have to say. Get it across straight from the shoulder, forcibly and picturesquely.

Don't try to memorize your speech. The probability is that you'd forget a part of the crucial moment, and anyway it would be stiff and dull. It is a pity if you have to read it for that. Losses about fifty per cent of the inspiration and interest. The best way is to have notes and to say, in your own language, what you wish to say about each point.

PUMPKIN AND SQUASH

Pumpkin and squash belong to the stem family, botanical and may be used interchangeably in your recipes. If prepared in the same manner, only the expert can tell which is which.

Both of these vegetables are yellow, the color much prized by the dietitians who insist that you should eat one yellow or green food every day if we would be healthy. For the family who must economize, pumpkin and squash are great blessings. They contain vitamin A, which builds resistance to disease and stimulates growth.

These articles are usually inexpensive, and should figure largely in the low-priced food budget. Green foods are usually expensive in the winter time, but pumpkin and squash may be substituted, and there is also the carrot. If stored in a warm dry place, firm-fleshed squashes and pumpkins will keep all winter.

Both pumpkin and squash may be baked or steamed, mashed, and served as a vegetable. Steaming is better than boiling in water as it gives a richer flavor. Butter, salt and pepper, and a very little sugar may be added. A cup of the mashed product may be added to your corn bread, or biscuit or cake.

FASHIONS, PADS, FOIBLES

The tonic dress is raging with so much vehemence, one wonders how long it will last. The same might be said of velvet, so much in vogue, from street wear to formal; and now come velvet night gowns with matching robes.

Jewelry has been growing more and more scarce, but pearls with the black costume is a concession to the present rage for black and white combinations. White is returning as a favorite color for house decorations: the white house, white kitchen, white bathroom and white furniture, after several seasons when gay colors had made white seem cold and uninteresting.

BETTER STUFFING

To your poultry or roast stuffing add a can of corn. It is cheap and chewability makes a delightful variety. Chopped celery is another variation in the often too compact meat stuffing, ever try using whole wheat bread for both flavor and consistency. Did you try stuffing?

Oysters are often added to stuffing. It seems to me a pity to drown out them with the flavor of the roast or their own delicate flavor by combining food. Better reserve the oysters for an escalloped dish, with more delicate crackers as an accompaniment, since these do not detract from the choice oyster taste.

Chestnuts may be used in stuffing and give a characteristic flavor to the body to it. First cook two cups of chestnuts, then chop them and add to the stuffing. Onions, garlic, olives, mushrooms, mangoes, pimientos, Worcester sauce, bay leaf, sage mustard, these are some of the possible ingredients of stuffing, and you may invent others to suit your taste.

A SCHOOL NEED

One of the needs of many school buildings is an adequate place for the children to wash their hands. There would be fewer germs carried to delicate noses and throats, if dirty hands were more frequently washed. The educational cleanliness would be a worthwhile achievement.
